THE IRISH QUESTION. The most puzzling thing to the mind of the British statesman to day is, we believe, the Irish question. After conturies of English rule, it would appear that a large portion of the Irish people, not only in Ireland but in other parts of the world, are ready to risk their lives to disrupt the British connection. It is a poor compliment to the sagacity of successive English Governments that this is so. The Fenians may be an insane organization, but the cause of Fenianism is a standing rebuke to British wisdom. We may slur over mismanagement with an easy grace, but all the sophistry in the world will not got over the fact that there must be some serious misrule that keeps a country in perpetual fermentation, and nearly always on the brink of insurrection. Now that the dangers in Ireland have been arrested and the Fenian disturbances on the Canadian border quelled, it is to be hoped that Earl Grey and Mr. Bright and John Stuart Mill will not importune the British Parliament in vain for a redress of Irish grievances. Reform in this direction could not come at a better time, and from better hands than the liberal and enlightened men who now form the British Cabinet. The press of the United Kingdom teems with remedies, English members of Parliament and Scotch members of Parliament appear to be equally anxious with the Irish members to adopt a scheme that will stay the general discontent; all it requires is the carrying out of some such suggestion as that proposed by Mr. Bright-that Parliament should have a short session devoted exclusively to Irish affairs. The question is pressing one. "We should not" says the North British Review, " longer blind ourselves to the state of Ireland. The sneers of Russian diplomatists may exasperate us into dogged denial; the persistency of Irish members may weary us into utter disgust with the whole subject; the petulant foolish nature of the people must dishearten their warmest friends; but if these excusable emotions can be for a moment forgotten, can any Englishman conscientiously say that Ireland is other than a source of sorrow and shame? The traces left by long years of misrule are not removed in a day; but with every allowance for this the state of Ireland is still a deep reproach. Disguise it from ourselves as we will, the fact is certain, and will at last become clear even to the stolid English mind, that nearly all Ireland, save the aristocracy and the shopocracy, is pos sessed by forms of discontent the discovery of which takes us altogether by surprise. Church questions and land questions, im portant everywhere, are of vital importance in Ireland. Something, indeed, was accomplished by the Encumbered Estates Act. But the tenure of land in Ireland requires yet freen handling; the gigantic abuse of the Irish Establishment must be abated. We may shoot the Irish or transport them-in any way and all ways improving them off the face of the earth like Red Indians. This was Cromwell's method; and whatever we may think of its morality, was an intelligible and consistent policy. Or we may conciliate them by governing them with deference to their principles and opinions. The one thing we cannot do with any result but that of misery to them and discredit to ourselves, is FIDELITER the thing we insist on doing; namely, govern Ireland with an utter disregard of the feelings and wishes of the bulk of the Irish people. It is all very well to talk glibly of justice' and 'equality of laws;' but we forget that what is justice here may be in-justice there, and that "equality of laws" may by the Irish be regarded as but a sweet sounding name for forcing English law upon the Irish nation. At all events we Scotchmen should never forget that an attempt to force on us an alien Church drove us into wild insurrection, of which we are now proud, and the stories of which we are fond to recall. But such considerations find no place in our government of Ireland. We offend them with English sentiments, and force on them English laws; we insult them as well as injure them with that preposterous Church; and then the natural result of all this is the suspension of the Habeas Corpus Act. Mr. Bright's speech the other day was utterly ill-timed, but it was unhappily, in some respects, too true. No real good can come from partial remedies, like the Maynooth grant, or from giving Catholies, as such, a place in the Queen's Colleges—which latter is really a retrograde step, being to degrade an unsectarian into a sectaria system of education. We must make up our or we need never hope that this deep reproach on the English name will be wiped away." Reform, however, in the government of Ireland will prove of but a fraction of the value it ought to prove if the Irish people do not get rid of some of their own anti-progresssive notions. They must dream no more about Erien Borohme, or Malachi that " word the collar of gold," or the harp that shed the soul of music in Tara's hall-all this is very good for a little sentimental pastime, but a race of people in this practical age cannot afford to waste their energies in attempting to live in the past. Ireland has been rained by sentiment, her stomach has been shrivelled up on scanty rations of food, while her imagination has been crammed to bursting with the glories of the uncivilized past. Instead of using her sharp wits and Celtic vigor in meeting her English and Sootch brothren on the field of commercial minds that in Iroland we have to face state of society utterly out of joint, both regards its religious and its civil institutions,

THE BRITISH COLONIST and manufacturing competition, she has in too many instances frittered away her energy gies on unworthy objects. Instead of becoming part and parcel of the British nation, she has endeavored to perpetuate the distinction of race and nationality, and enshroud berself in the garments of exclusiveness. This is her great blunder; for if there is one peculiarity of modern progress more broadly marked than another it is the rapid extinction of all lines of difference based on pride, prejudice or superstition. The civilized world is rapidly advancing to cosmopolitism. The tendency of the age is opposed to segregation. Nature has clearly set her laws against it; for wherever we find a class or race of people isolating themselves from the rest of mankind we shall see degeneracy and barbarism. If we look for the cause of the ignorance and helplessness of uncivilized races everywhere we shall see it in their divisions and exclusiveness. If we come even to the nations of Europe we shall find those the most backward who have nourished national pride or prejudice to an extent that has produced isolation. The converse of the proposition holds equally true. The nations who intermingle most with each other are the foremost in wealth, in civilization and in power. The world has really attached too much importance to race and nationality. The most progressive country history has ever seen is that great ommunity on the American continent that is absorbing, week after week and year after year, members of nearly every people under the sun-that is, in fact, the compounded of all nationalities. Even England herself, where would she have been to-day had that much dmired specimen of humanity called the "ancient Briton" been left to work out his own civilization? We question indeed whether she would have been as far advanced as China or Japan. It was the Roman, the Saxon, the Dane and the Norman, with all their sanguinary incursions, that beat barbarism out of the native and brought forth those powers that made the British empire the colossal thing it is. Whether the past is to be regretted or admired does not, however now very much concern the Englishman. The most sentimental citizen of London or Liverpool would rather make a thousand pounds on the sale of a ship's cargo than be told he is a lineal descendant of Canute the Great or William the Conqueror. This is the materialistic quality which the Irish character most wants. Instead of vainly fretting over historical facts, let the Irish people realize the present and make the best of it. Let them give up all hope of separation from England and accept union with Great Britain as their destiny. If they want to fight, let them unite with the English and Scottish masses and wage war for a larger share of popular right-for more extensive political privileges: If they do this there is no disability they need labor under. They have got in the character of the Island many natural advantages over their neighbors, and they have ability certainly inferior to neither the English nor the Scotch. All that is wanted is in the first place a removal of the numerous disabilities and grievances under which the people labor, and in the second a determination on the part of the inhabitants themselves to let the past alone and look steadily and hopefully into the future,-not as a small independent nationality, but as an integral and important portion of the British empire.

GREAT SAVING IN DRESSMAKING. Cheap & Good!

Mrs. Curtis' First Premium Models. Prime Ale or Porter,

BY THEM A LADY CAN, IN A FEW minutes, shape any article of wearing apparel, including the GORED DRESS, BASQUINE, SACK, POSTILLION, ZOUAVE, GIRDLE, APRON, PANTALOONS, VEST, &c., to fit perfectly without trying on. The System is Mathematically perfect, hence it removes all anxiety regarding the fit of a Dress. There will be no ALTERING—no TAKING UP or LETTING OUT, which not only injures the material but destroys the proportions and often ruins the Dress. It is not only exact, but so clear and simple that any person can learn in an hour to cut any garment.

How many ladies of limited means could dress better could they SAVE THE PRICE OF THE MAKING OF A DRESS, which they can do by the use of these MODELS; and how much use-less anxiety would be saved by the wealthy and most fastidious were they certain that the dress being made would fit to please them. THE SALE OF LIQUOR TO INDIANS.
The following petition to the Legislative Council praying that the bill now before that Council praying that the bill now before that nonorable body to legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors to Iudians may not become law is now in course of signature, and will, we have every reason to suppose, be very numerously signed:

The Honorable the Legislative Council, the Humble Petition of the undersigned inhabitants of Vancouver Island sheweth, itants of Vancouver Island sheweth,

That your petitioners view with extreme regret and unfeigned alarm the Bill to Legalize the sale of intexicating liquors to the Indians now before your honorable body.

Before allowing this bill to become law your petitioners humbly beg your honorable body to weigh the following considerations:

1. Such a measure as that contemplated in the Bill in question is opposed to the history and experience of the British American Provinces as well as of the United States of vinces as well as of the United States of America.

During the period of barbarism of native races it has been found both expedient and necessary to prohibit the sale of intoxicants o the aborigines.

2. The effect of strong drink upon the Indians is vastly different from its effect upon the whites.

The Indians drink by tribes, villages or companies, and almost invariably to excess while the supply lasts. When drunk they exhibit the wildest recklessness and indifference to human life. Any weapon which comes to hand is then used with deadly fury and latal consequences.

There is no public opinion, no censure of society to restrain the unlettered savage in the use of this to them most dangerous bev-

3. The partial failure in the operation of the present prohibitory law does not prove either its injustice or the wisdom of its repeal. It has yet to be shown that any sustained, well organized, and systematic effort has been made to enforce the law.

It is humbly urged by your petitioners that there are no officers detailed for this special duty, and that scenes daily enacted on the Indian Reserve at Victoria could not possibly have occurred if there had been any proper system of police supervision to carry out the law.

4. The special attractions said to be imparted to intoxicating liquor by the prohibition of its use, might with equal force be urged in favor of the repeal of all prohibitory enactments; while the argument drawn from the infringement of the liberty of the subject, so often alleged in this question, falls to the ground when it is remembered that the Indians are vards of the Government, considered unfit to be entrusted with the management of their own lands, or to be admitted to the full privileges of British subjects. management of their own tanks, or be admitted to the full privileges of British subjects. Hence it does not appear to your petitioners to be consistent with sound reason and true philosophy to place in the hands of the natives a drink admitted by all to be injurious, ad destructive to them, while they are con-and destructive to them, while they are con-fessedly still unqualified to exercise the rights of men and citizens in many matters of a much more harmless character.

5. The inefficient execution of the prohib-itory law has given sad proof that the natives will barter their finest furs for liquor in pre-Their their moest fors for inquor in pre-ference to any other medium of exchange.

Their thirst for strong drink thus deprives them of those atticles which would minister at once to their commercial advantage and their progress in civilization. This in the opinion of your petitioners claims, not the repeal of the prohibitory law, but its more rivid enjocement.

6. In the opinion of your petitioners it is the secred duly of the Government to protect the natives as well from their own desperate. and destructive vices, as from the cupidity and lust of lawless whites, and that, therefore while every private effort for their ameliora-tion ought to be warmly supported, a well digested scheme of Indian improvement should be adopted by the Crown and vigorously

7. But in the opinion of your petitioners culiar and destructive effects of intoxicating iliquors upon the Indians; of the slight and inadequate efforts hitherto made to enforce the prohibitory law; of the infallible loss and ruin which would result to the Indians from the barter of their articles of commerce for liquor instead of those things which minfor liquor instead of those things which min-siter to material progress; of the solemn duty of the Government to protect and elevate the natives; and of the great difficulties which the sale of intoxicating liquors would place in the way of such elevation; your humble petitioners pray your honorable body to reject the bill authorising the sale of intoxicating liquors to Indians now under your consider-ation.

And your petitioners as in duty bound will ver pray, &c.

A MELBOURNE ADDRESS.

The following original election a ddress of

Victorian, well-known to those who have isited Melbourne, is worthy of perusal. TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST MELBOURNE,- Gentlemen,—For the third time I offer my-self for re-election as one of your represen-tutives in the "Commons" of Victoria. The present political feud has arisen out of an indisposition on the part of the Manchester class of importers and middlemen's refusal to pay a very small share of taxation.

society, they libel our institutions and defaue our social condition. They also, through these organized subsidies, have made a cat'spaw of the Council Chamber. They have, by the same means, won the lavor of a portion of the press, and have immortalized themselves by repeatedly insulting our most gracious Queen, in the person of our impartial and independent Governor.

The aim of this class is to fix the burthen of the taxation on other shoulders than their own, to discourage all manufactures, to subvert the Land Act; and above all, and own, to discourage all manufactures, to subvert the Land Act; and above all, and worse than all, to rob us of the suffrage. Aye, to rob us of the eternal, unalienable birthright of all free men. Think of that, you bear to be disfranchised, together with him who follows the plough or wields the pick—as witness Wilberforce Stephen at Brighton, and Murray Smith at Williamstown, the nominees of this precious clique, on the question of the manhood suffrage. And remember, my countrymen, we cique, on the question of the mannood sun-rage. And remember, my countrymen, we have growing up amongst us that detestable class "shoneen," who will strive to get the upper hand, which, please God, they never will, so long as we have the power of voting upper nand, which, please God, tup flever will, so long as we have the power of voting and voting by ballot.

On offering myself for re-election last time I did so independent of all classes; but when the time arrived for discussing the question of protection I found the Government were honest in their professions, I found that, not only in their valuable Land Act, but in the revision of the tariff, they studied the welfare of the people. Then it was I supported them with my heart and soul, and shall continue to do so until the sole and entire right of raising and spending the revenue of this country be conceded, without equivocation or reservation, to the people's representatives in the Assembly Chamber.

When a prudent time shall have arrived, I will dun for another instalment of protection; and as soon as possible I hope to have the pleasure of assisting to shape the Council Chamber so that it shall be really a representative institution. Should I be honored again by your re-electing me I promise to bring you back that honor un-sullied, as I have hitherto done; and I trust promise to bring you back that honor un-sullied, as I have hitherto done; and I trust I shall never be found amongst the ranks of a small-minded clique of obstructionists, but that I may ever be in the van, where the welfare of the country demands.

In conclusion, I beg of you to wipe out of your eyes the dust which tricksters are using when they quote you the 'Constitution.' For centuries, jurists and political economists of the highest order of intellect have do that necessary and common sense act, of helping to build up for all classes of our population employment suitable to their varied physical developments.

HOW LIONS ARE TAMED .-- A Paris letter writer for one of the English papers is faces tious. He says:-Somebody has discovered the way in which Batty tames the king of the forest. He gets a lion, you see, and keeps him in a state of starvation for four days; and when the beast is in the extrem ity of hunger he throws him a Hungarian jacket—a regular full-dress Magyar costume, with lots of frogs, embroidery and buttons. The starving lion rushes at it, tevs it and worries it, and finally bolts it. Then comes worries it, and finally bolts it. Then comes Nemesis in the shape of indigestion; and then, when the king of the forest has headache, heartburn, and is generally shaky and seedy, Batty appears in another Hungarian costume, just like the indesta moles; and the brute creation not, I presume, liking the "hair of the dog that bit you" system, Leo shakes his head, and turns tail: From that moment he is a "gone coon"—a conquered lion—and learns to lick the hand which beats him.

Even the crustiest of old bachelors must acknowledge this in his heart, however disa-noistment may have soured his temper. Unfortunately, however, the freshness and patural bloom of childhood are often marred by disfiguring disorders. Sometimes we see and looking as if disease had been at work pon them with a pair of compasses dipped n red ochre. Of course every mother recog-nises this description of Rixgworm, or which the still more disgusting cuteneoud affection known as SCALD HEAD is uext to sin. Probably nine-tenths of us have had touch of these unpleasant eruptive complaints at out of the second of the laints at one time or other, and most or us know that they are not only disfiguring but excessively annoying and painful. We are aware too, that most of the nostrums recommended for them morly spread and aggravate inflammation, and that it frequently leads to confirmed disease of the skin. Under these circumstances, it is to be presumed that all parents who are not conversant with the wonderful properties of HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT will be glad to learn, on good authority, that it is a quick and thorough remedy for RINGWORM and SCALD HEAD, as well as for other external diseases. The testimony which goes to establish the fact is incontrovertible, and every mother who wishes to see the faces of her darlings un-clouded by erruptions, and their heads un-crusted with excrescent matter, is entitled to Professor Helloway has obtained such a reputation throughout the world for his external and internal remedies, that his name must, of course, be familiar to all our readers; but after all, there is no harm in tion by specifying certain diseases in which one knows that they have worked wonders. The effect of the Ointment in cases of Ring-WORM and SCALD HEAD is but a specimen of its marvellous operation in all skin diseases yet, we dare say, there are many who have used it for boils, bruises, blotches, &c., &c. who have scarcely thought of it with refer ance to these two scourges of childhood. It any mother should try it on our recommen-dation, we have little doubt she will give it a dation, we have little doubt she will give it a permanent place in her nursery closet for some time to come. Much may be done to prevent the ordinary cutaneous diseases of children by proper diet, strict cleanliness, and regular exercise in the open air; but after the disorder has actually developed itself, there is no curative so reliable as Holloway's Ointment.—Albany Daily State Register.

Register. GABRIEL ON THE LOSS AND RESTOR-ATION OF THE TETH.—The above is issued by Messrs, Garriel, the eminent London den-tists, and as it is written by men who have a high itsts, and as it is written by men who have a high standing in their profession, the work is well worthy the perusal of all who value the preservation of their teeth and wish to guard against the many and tormenting evils to which those useful members are subject. Many valuable hints are given throughout the book as to the various means of preserving the teeth and guns in a healthy condition, and of arresting in many cases permanently the progress of decay which may have already set in. The little work is evidently written by men of long experience in their profession, and who are thorough masters of their subject, and as such may be honestly recommended. Extract from the Monas Herald, January 2nd, 1864. —As may be seen by our advertising solumns, Messre. Gabriel supply Teeth on their patented system, irrespective of distance or mate.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS, a certain HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS, a certain remedy for diseases of the skin—Ringworm, scurry, scrofula, or king's evil, sore heads, and the most inveterate skin diseases to which the human race is subject, cannot be treated with a more safe and speedy remedy than Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which act so peculiarly on the constitution, and so purify the blood that those diseases are eradicated from the system, and a lasting cure is obtained. They are equally efficacious in the cure of tumours, burns, scalds, glandular swellings, ulecrous wounds, rheumatism, contracted and stiffjoints. These medicines operate mildly and surely. The cure effected by them is not temporary or apparent only, but complete and permanent.

THE TEETH.—A very comprehensive little treatise on the teeth has just been forwarded to us by the well-known dentists Messrs. Gabrier. Adoving the lan uage of the preface we may say that in this somewhat pretensious age, at a time when publications of this kind are nunerous, a short, unassuming treatise emanating from a firm of long standing containing nothing but that which is immediately to the purpose, will not, we believe, prove unacceptable. The little work contains many valuable hints which will be found eminently useful for the allevation of the miseries of toothache, until the more substantial aid of the professed dentist can be procured. Extract from "Cumbriand Pacquet," "2nd January, 1864.—As may be seen by our advertising columns, Messre. Gabriel supply artificial Teeth and Gume on their patented system, irrespective of distance or climate.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

Nervous Disorders.

Whatis more tearful than a breaking down of the nervous system? To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most distressing, for where can a remedy be found? Here is one:—Drink, but little wine, beer, or spirits, or far better, abstain from them altogether; do not take coffee—week tea is preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take three preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take three and avoid the use of stops. If these golden rules are followed, you will be happy in mind, strong in body, and forget you have any nerves.

Mothers and Daughters

If there is one thing more than another forwhich here Pills are so tamous, it is their purifying perties, especially their power of cleansing the liptood from all tinpurities, and removing dangerous, and cuewing surpended secretions. Universally adopted as the one grand remeity for female complaints these Pills never iall, never weaken the system, and always bring about what is required.

Disorders of the Kidneys.

In all diseases affecting these organs, whether they secrete too much or too little water; or whether they be afflicted with stone or gravel, or with aches and pains settled in the loins over the region or the kidneys, these Pills should be taken according to the priated directions, and the Ointment should be well rubbed into the small of the back at bed time. This treatment will give almost immediate relief after all other means have failed.

Bronchitis, Diptheria, Coughs and Colds

Debilitated Constitutions

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT—Stomach and Kidneys. Between these two organs there exists a close and intimate relation which is demonstrated by the wasting which occurs in all diseases afflicting the kidneys. The disordered stomach is often the first index of renal irregularity. Holloway's remedies used at that juncture would cut short many a serious and fatal attack. They act with wonderful efficacy on every organ of secretion, but especially do they regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys, in restoring their healthy functions, and casting out any obstructions or impurities. It is necessary for the ointment to be well rubbed into the small of the back twice daily, when it is absorbed and greatly augments the purifying and salutary in fluence of the Pills.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.-Wounds, Scalds, HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.—Wounds, Scalds, Burns, and Irritating Sores.—The peculiarly mild, soothing, anti-inflammatory power exerted by this Ointment strongly recommends its use to all persons who have charge of children. Accidents will occur in the nursery in spite of the greatest caution and utmost vigilance. The scratch, the burn, or the scald, treated early with this Ointment, assumes no angry aspect, and nover long tortues the little sufferer, whose very cry excites each bystander's compassion and pierces the parents heart. Every nurse should consider this invaluable Ointment an essential to a well appointed nursery. The Ointment is applicable to any ore, whatever its character. It conducts to health as sure as the compass points to the north.

as sure as the compass points to the north.

HOLLOWAY'S ONTMENT AND PILLS—Palpitation, Shortness of Breath, Dropsy.—This last named disease is often preceded by irregular action of the heart, and difficult respiration which symptoms are always severe, and ever go from bad to worse, unless proper means of cure be resorted to. In Holloway's unrivalled Ointment and Pills' the dropsical patient will ever find succour; the present relief derived from the use of these remedies is marvellously quick, and perseverance in the steady application of this not be Ointment invariably results in a lasting and satisfactory cure. The two medicines act with succenergy on the circulation and absorbent system that the dropsical fluid vanishes, and the sufferentials all the oppressive symptoms daily decline, till natural health returns.

HOLLOWAY OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Fistu las, Piles, Excoriations, and Strictures, are speedily relieved and ultimately removed by applying this Ointment after fomentation with warm water. Persons suffering from these scourges of the human frame should arrest their progress at once, for it is both insidious and rapid. Flatulas, if long allowed to go on unchesked, not only weaken the nervous system, but destroy life. The sooner these inestimable remedies are used the more certain is success; yet none should despair, hopeless cases have often yielded, and the sufferer has been saved a painful death. In excoriations, a few applications of this healing Ointment effect a cure, while the Pills, conjointly used, are especially beneficial in relaxing and removing strictures, whatever their situation or duration. duration.
